

New England Wildlife Centers
The Odd Pet Vet

We are looking for a veterinarian who has a passion for treating non-traditional animals in a non-traditional education organization. 60% of the patients are exotic pets, 30% are wildlife, and 10% are zoo animals; 100% of the job involves educating students of all ages and abilities in natural history, medicine, and care - both in and out of the exam room. New graduates eligible.

The Centers are two wildlife centers and hospitals in metro Boston—New England Wildlife Center—and Cape Cod—Cape Wildlife Center. Both Centers employ veterinary teams. We train middle school, high school, undergraduate, graduate, veterinary, incarcerated, and challenged students in care-based science education about wildlife, zoo, and exotic animal natural history, medicine and biology.

Please apply with resume electronically to Greg Mertz, DVM
gerg@newwildlife.org